

WHAT IS A TRADE UNION?

Trade unions are groups of workers
organised together
to win a better deal at work...

WHAT IS A TRADE UNION?

 prospect  bectu

In Prospect/Bectu, we have formed groups of members who get together to talk about what's going on in their workplaces and industries.

Our members discuss and negotiate on issues like pay, pensions, equalities, health & safety, unfair treatment, or the way work is organised and managed.

We can all achieve more together than we can alone. When working people band together, they're much more likely to get decent wages and be treated well at work.

Scan a QR code to find out more or to join us today ▶

Who are we?

Prospect and Bectu is a community of over 150,000 members with a Branch structure based on employers.

Owned and run by its membership, it employs expert officials to negotiate, protect and defend your legal rights and conditions at work.

Why, as a young worker, should you join?

We have a Young Worker's Network to give all members 35 and under an opportunity to be part of a community that share the same concerns and issues, to suggest improvements and get support for any campaigning you would like to tackle.

The network also provides opportunities for personal development and dedicated sessions on topics that matter to young workers.